Remarks Sammy Shoestrings.

"Of the staff of leathers that make Burt's 'Korret Shape' Shoes the best $3.50 Shoes for men on top of this smiling sphere is Gun Metal Calf. It looks like its name—has the dull, yet bright, aristocratic finish of a gun-barrel. Polishes without looking sticky and pasty. Is practically waterproof. Takes all kinds of hard wear and scuffing without flinching. Is warm. Made by a secret process—though it is no secret to shoe men that it is bound to supersede ordinary calf."

POULTRY SHOW AT FAIR WILL BE OPEN TO-DAY.

Receipt of Forty Wagonloads of Entries Keeps Live Stock Department at Exhibition Busy.

More than forty wagonloads of poultry from every part of the United States, entered for exhibition in the Poultry Show, which opens at the Fair to-day, arrived at the World's Fair yesterday. The work of copying this great number of fowls made the day one of the busiest in the Live Stock Department of the Exposition has seen, and probably the busiest Sunday in the period of the Exposition.

The largest shipment came from W. G. Roberts of Fort Atkinson, Wis., who sent one carload of birds, composed of more than thirty varieties. Shipments were also received from California, New York, Indiana and Massachusetts.

The arrivals yesterday consisted mainly of White Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes and White Leghorns. The big barns immediately south of the Palace of Agriculture and Horticulture, which have been vacated by the cattle, were full of over a million of all kinds and descriptions, and with poultry supplies. Nearly all of the entries have now arrived, and will be in place when the judging begins Tuesday morning. The Poultry and Dog Show will be opened to the public this morning at 9 o'clock.

OWES HER LIFE TO GOOD CARTRIDGES

Thief Found Appealing His Hunger Pulls Triggers of Shotgun Aimed at Woman.

BOTH CHARGES MISS FIRE.

Housebreaker Escapes After Ransacking Cottage of John Brande in Belleville—Supposed to Have Been a Negro.

A burglar discovered by Mrs. John Brande of No. 527 East D street, Belleville, while he was appealing his appetite after he had ransacked the house, early yesterday morning, aimed a shotgun at Mrs. Brande and pulled both triggers. The weapon missed fire.

The fact that the cartridges were old prevented a fatality.

Mrs. Brande screamed and the burglar, who is supposed to have been a negro, bolted through the rear door. A dozen Belleville policemen have been at work on the case, but so far they have been unable to find a trace of the burglar. The housebreaker secured $25 from several purses, the property of members of the Brande family.

The burglar entered by prying open a window in the kitchen. The house is a six-room brick cottage. The burglar was bold and went through Mr. and Mrs. Brande's and the children's rooms, ransacking every drawer and closet in the house. He found three purses, from which he took $25. Then he went to the kitchen.

Fresh baked bread and coffee cake tempted him to linger. He helped himself to liberal portions, and opened several jars of preserves. He made so much noise in getting at the food that Mrs. Brande was awakened.

Not suspecting that a burglar was in the house, she walked to the kitchen. Opening the door, she saw the burglar seated at the table. He jumped to his feet, and, seizing Mr. Brande's shotgun, which he had taken from the Brande bedroom, he leveled it at Mrs. Brande and pulled the triggers. Both cartridges failed to explode. Mrs. Brande screamed for help and the burglar dropped the gun and ran through the kitchen door, jumping the fence. Mr. Brande and the other members of the family hurried to the kitchen in response to Mrs. Brande's cry for help. They got there too late to see the burglar.

After arming themselves, they called the neighbors, and the police were notified. A search was made for the burglar. Mrs. Brande could give but a poor description of the burglar, she was so badly frightened. She said that the burglar was either a negro or a white man with a dark complexion. He wore a dark slouch hat, pulled down over his face, was dressed in dark clothes and was of medium height.

FAMOUS DOGS COMING TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Judges Will Be Ready to Start Work To-morrow Morning on Time—Quality of Dogs Very High.

To-morrow the Dog Show at the World's Fair will open in Barn D of the Live-Stock Department.

Doctor G. W. Clayton of Chicago, who will be veterinarian and also manager of the ring and benches, is he and his staff are perfecting the details. Messrs. Belmont, Viti and Kent, the Fanciers' Committee, have retired, and the show will be conducted wholly by Mr. Graham and Doctor Clayton from this time to the end, Friday evening.

Among the exhibitors is Mr. Watson of New York, who will arrive to-day with kennel of six imported Irish terriers, one of the best lots of this breed ever seen. The terrier class is particularly strong, having the great new Canada dog, the Balmora Rex, and the cracks of the Winkler kennel, which were the stars at the Collie Club show last spring.

Ben Lewis gets in to-day from Philadelphia with the two great English setters, Halloway and Brokenback. He also has the champion Gordon setter, Downham Victor, and two blue-ribbon pointers, the latter of which he has won at two of their best dog fairs.

The dog show is more numerous than at any show ever held in St. Louis, and all the class leaders are present.

Of the judges, Messrs. Mortimer, Cole and Byers, will arrive to-day, and Doctor Clayton will be ready to start their classes to-morrow morning.

CLUB TO GIVE BENEFIT.

West End Organization Will Lend Assistance to Fund for the Poor.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the West End Club yesterday afternoon it was decided that the next entertainment at the institution would be a benefit for the families of Detectives Shea, McCuskey and Dwyer, and that a card would be put on next Thursday.

A committee of five, chosen from club members, was appointed to perfect arrangements and the entire receipts will be turned over to the fund for the poor. The committee is composed of Mr. Lee, Mr. Patrick, Mr. Keena, John E. Wilson, Martin O'Brien, James McDonough, Emil Schirmer, Joseph E. O'Connor, William R. Faulkner, Mr. J. A. Lancaster and Dennis O'Connell.

Members of the body meet to-night at the club at 8 o'clock to perfect the program and the program for the occasion will be turned over to them.

This contest will include quite a number of local fights, who have volunteered their services, and many well-known fighters from other cities will be invited to contribute their part to the entertainment.

Just as the heavy-weight division of the prize ring has resolved itself into a class where candidates of the middle nineties are still the leading contestants, so the best men in the light-weight and "heavy" featherweight classes are still the same monopoly on leading contenders in their division through sheer superiority over their opponents.

Although it has been many months since Terry McGovern lost his title, he still belongs to that charmed circle which is considered by sporting men as but little lower than the champion. Joe Gans has been fighting for years, but is still the best in his class—no pun being intended by the term best boxer.

"Fast" Nelson is a comparative newcomer to the circle of the elite, and seems able to hold his place. Young Corbett and Jimmy Britt cannot be destroyed by any material developed in the last few years. So this quintet seems likely to occupy the same position, and to be the quietest of Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Sharkey have held for years, in spite of the fact that they should have been long since destroyed by the ring.

Eighteen months ago Dave Sullivan and Kid Broad might have been considered troublesome opponents for the quietest of light weights. Now they have dropped into back seats. Henry Sawyer has been out of the running for some time through a disabled shoulder, and his appearance here will indicate whether he can still be considered a candidate for honors in the top circles.

If Jack McCallum can best him in their battle of November 2, the Pittsburgh man will be one of the factors of his class. Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan and Abe Attell are lighter than this quintet, and are being considered in exactly the same way.

If McCallum and Yanger can both make good in their coming battle, and if Hanlon should drop out as a factor, it would give to the light-weight division of the ring a coterie of fighters such as the world has never seen.

Other classes and weight divisions have had many men of nearly equal merit before, but none have stirred up so much interest in their class. But it is doubtful

With a daily average attendance of 14,616, the total admissions at the World's Fair for the week just ended amounted to 867,697. Though the number of persons who passed the turnstiles at the Fair is less than that for the previous week, the attendance is an average one.

The showing of last week is satisfactory to the Exposition management when it is considered that the weather has not been ideal throughout the entire week. On Friday, usually a good day for visitors to attend the Exposition, it was rainy and sloppy. Despite the fact that Saturday, the best day of the week, probably was the coldest of the term of the Exposition, the attendance was 146,510. The heaviest attendance of the week was on Thursday, when 156,357 admissions were recorded.

The present week at the Exposition has attractions which are expected to bring out a very large attendance. The Trans-Mississippi Congress, with its thousands of more delegates and many others who will attend its meetings, will help to swell the attendance. Many will be here to attend the sessions of the International Council of Women.

The Poultry and Dog Show, the National Creamery Butter Association and the Interstate Commercial Law Convention will have its large following. University of Missouri Day will bring thousands of local students to the Fair. The week promises to be one of the liveliest of the Exposition.

If there was ever a time when so many good men were collected within the limits of a single class as can now be found in that division which includes men from 123 to 133 pounds.

Sam Berger, the heavy-weight Pacific Coast amateur boxer, may become a professional in the near future. He passed through the city yesterday and remained over for a few minutes only on his way to the court. He stated that he had received an offer to fight Kid McCoy in Frisco on his return and that he would probably accept the offer.

Berger won both his bouts in the Olympic boxing tourney here and has had a first-class record for an amateur heavy-weight. A match between Sam and Kid McCoy would prove a strong drawing card in any of the Frisco clubs.

UNCLE SAM IS COINING MEDALS FOR WORLD'S FAIR.

Government Will Furnish Trophies to Exposition at Cost of Metal—To Prevent Fraud.

Uncle Sam is coining the medals to be presented to exhibitors at the World's Fair. The medals are being struck off at the mint, and will be furnished to the World's Fair at the cost of the metal. No charge will be made for the labor.

The design was selected by a committee of artists several months ago, and is said to be a very beautiful one. The bronze, silver and gold medals will be of different sizes. This will be done as a precaution to prevent any fraud which might be attempted by those winning them by having bronze medals plated with silver or gold, or the silver medals made to appear as if they were gold.

Secretary Stevens said yesterday that it would be difficult to say just how many of the medals will be awarded. Only the smaller number of awards have been given out. It is expected that between two and three thousand medals will be awarded in the departments of Agriculture and Manufactures, which are the largest.

Young Man Arrested for Stealing Fruit Says He Was Hungry—Had $519 in Wallet.

When searched at the police station in the World's Fair district yesterday, Albert Sawinsky, who said that he entered a fruit stand in the Exposition grounds because he was hungry, had $519 in his pocket.

Sawinsky is a German, 19 years old, and lives at No. 2537 Lindell avenue. He is interested in a concession in the Palace of Machinery.

Sawinsky was caught in the act of breaking open one of the fruit stands by a Jefferson Guard. It is charged. He is said to have admitted having taken the fruit, but said that he had had nothing to eat for a day and was very hungry. In searching Sawinsky the police found $500 in currency in a wallet. The greater part of the $500 was in 25-cent pieces.

The fruit taken by Sawinsky consisted of eight pears, two oranges and one apple, and probably would have cost him not more than 25 cents.

Sawinsky was asked where he had secured so large a sum of money, he declared that he had earned it since he came to the Exposition. He stated that he had a stand in the Palace of Machinery where puzzles are sold. He was well dressed. He seemed to be sorry for taking the fruit.

FOLK POSTPONES NEBRASKA DATES

Albright Case Keeps the Circuit Attorney in St. Louis—Busy Week for Him.

Because of the Albright case, which comes up to-day, Circuit Attorney Folk found it necessary last night to postpone the appointments which he had made to speak in Nebraska. Three speeches by him had been advertised in William J. Bryan's State. Arrangements were made by long-distance telephone postponing them.

Great difficulty has been encountered in getting a jury in the Albright case. After examination of several venues only twenty competent jurymen have been obtained. Twenty-four are required for a special panel. Should the four be quickly secured to-morrow, the trial will proceed.

A busy week of campaigning for Mr. Folk is planned, beginning Tuesday. Four dates are made for that day, beginning at Burlington Junction, in Nodaway County. From four to five speeches will be made by him all week, ending with three in St. Louis.
